Helm's Nomination.

The nomination of Mr. Helm, who will be Congressman Helm, will be widely satisfactory to the democracy of the district. We believe that he would have been invincible from the day of his entry to the end of the race, even had it been contested. As we stated in our editorial columns in publishing his announcement, he is fairly entitled to the honor on the strength of having gone into the convention two years ago the choice of the people, and having been defeated by the trickery of professional wire pullers. He was therefore the logical claimant to the votes in a primary of which he was robbed in the late convention.

His record is clean and honorable, his character above reproach and his ability unquestioned. There is before him the opportunity to win the fame that Kentuckians love best, and we know him to be no laggard. We predict for him a future full of promise, of whose realization we have no doubt. We have always been his friend and will watch his career with interest and with pride. His friends in Madison, and their name is legion, extend their congratulations and hearty good will.—Richmond Register.

WHICH?

John Smith is thrice a millionaire;
Quite rapid's been his rise;
A shrewd and calculating man,
The world accounts him wise;
A scruple he has never let
Retard his upward way;
The question always with him,
At all times: "Will it pay?"

Bill Jones is very poor, indeed,
And struggles for his bread;
A conscientious, upright man,
With more of heart than head.
He'll die as poor as he has lived,
There's no one calls him bright;
He never asks: "Now, will it pay?"
But always: "Is it right?"

There's no one but can clearly see,
For it's as clear as day,
That "Is it right?" has little chance
To win 'gainst "Does it pay?"
Still, when at times when Smith stops
To think,
From doubt he's scarcely free;
Somehow Bill Jones seems after all
A happier man than he. —Puck

"Make Hay While the Sun Shines."

There is a lesson in the work of the thrifty farmer. He knows that the bright sunshine may last but a day and he prepares for the showers which are so liable to follow. So it should be with every household. Dysentery, diarrhoea and cholera morbus may attack some member of the home without warning. Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, which is the best known medicine for these diseases, should always be kept at hand, as immediate treatment is necessary, and delay may prove fatal. For sale by Stanford Drug Co.

GOOD MAN IN TROUBLE.-L. M. Westerfield, of Livingston, chief train dispatcher for the Knoxville Division of the Louisville & Nashville Railroad, was arraigned before United States Commissioner Frank B. Saturday the Red Men took charge of the grounds and had a big time generally. Mrs. John W. Bastin, of Pittsburg, a former resident of this county, won the blue tie on her fine pair of sorrel mares Friday and got the red tie in the fancy turnout ring. She was accompanied in the ring by her pretty niece, Miss Mae Martin, of Paris.

CARD OF THANKS.-We desire to thank our friends and neighbors and Drs. Burnett and Peyton for their kindness during the illness of our son, who died on Friday, Aug. 24. Words can not express our gratitude nor can we ever forget the friends who stood by us so close and showed so much sympathy in our trouble. May God bless them all. A. P. Sloan and family.

BRO. GEORGE O. BARNES, the well-known evangelist, who became a Dowie follower, has a communication in the Stanford Interior Journal, in which he says the fall of Elijah II. is no proof that he is a fakir, but that his end is like that of David, Moses and others who walked close to God and afterwards fell. Bro. Barnes warns his readers to judge not, but we fear he will find very few who will not say that John Alexander Dowie is a fraud, a charlatan and an impostor. -Frankfort Journal.
